Branch Highways industrial site development

Advantage Branch

- An urgency to complete projects on, or ahead of, schedule
- A commitment to job cost management
- More than 40 years' experience in civil engineering and heavy construction
- More than 400 pieces of modern equipment
- More than 600 skilled employees who are dedicated owners of the company
- The financial strength to ensure success

We Exceed Expectations

In just nine months, Branch developed a 150-acre field into a regional distribution facility for one of the nation's largest retailers. In the process, we moved 1.3 million cubic yards of dirt, poured 300,000 square yards of concrete pavement, and coordinated a $15 million fleet of heavy equipment.

We put every project on the fast track because we know that time is money. Early completion is beneficial to everyone, so our goal is to complete every project ahead of schedule while maintaining the highest standards of quality.

One reason we succeed is meticulous planning and careful coordination. Another is our capability to bring additional resources, both personnel and equipment, to a job when the need arises.

"One of the Top 50 transportation contractors in the United States."

“Branch & Associates is proud to have Novozymes Biologicals as a repeat client and be part of this economic development success story for Roanoke County.” – Steve Aud, President, Branch & Associates, Inc.

We Innovate

The Corporate Research Center in Blacksburg, Va., is a hotbed of innovation, the scene of constant change. When it was time to change the form and function of their building, the center needed an innovative partner with multiple talents. They chose G.J. Hopkins.

By integrating engineering theory with practical know-how, G.J. Hopkins has become the contractor of choice for businesses that demand the highest standards of innovation, quality, and performance. Whether it's design, fabrication, installation, or servicing of mechanical and electrical systems, we have the expertise, experience, financial resources, and technology to do any job.

"I am getting compliments on an almost daily basis about what we have accomplished here. We have literally transformed this hospital and kept it running the whole time. A large part of the credit for this is due to the people from G.J. Hopkins."

– Jim McInerney, Superintendent - Martinsville Memorial Hospital

G.J. Hopkins

design/build, control systems, electrical systems, HVAC, plumbing, emergency response

Advantage Branch

- MEP (Mechanical - Electrical - Plumbing) within one company, providing accurate internal coordination among these disciplines
- Pre-construction services and accurate estimates for construction costs
- Single source of responsibility for the most significant portion of the building project
- State recognized and certified apprenticeship program
- Strong relationships with the architectural and engineering community

When three of the most experienced, most respected names in construction design and engineering get together, you can bet on success. For almost half a century, the partners in the Branch Group, Inc. have been building America: highways, airports, industrial and manufacturing facilities, progressive mechanical and electrical systems. We've done it with a flair for innovation, meticulous attention to detail, financial strength, professional expertise, and a no-compromises approach to customer satisfaction.

Biotechnology

Novozymes – Roanoke County

Novozymes selected Branch as its contractor in a “team build” approach for its corporate research facility at the new Roanoke County Center for Research and Technology - the project was constructed concurrent with the park's entrance road!

Food Processing/Distribution Pepsi Bottling Group – Wytheville

Branch came through in preparing this difficult site, starting in the winter, fighting rock and mud, and still bringing the foundations in on time for the Owner's General Contractor to set the tilt up panels and roof structure. Grading, environmental and utility infrastructure construction = DONE - DONE - DONE!

Telecommunications

EchoStar Communications – Montgomery County

When EchoStar required “cheeks in the seats” in 4½ months, Branch partnered with the Montgomery County IDA to produce finished space on a “flash-track” schedule with its high performance design/build team.

Urban Reinvestment

Eight Jefferson Place – Roanoke City

Branch worked with the Roanoke Redevelopment and Housing Authority to convert abandoned railroad offices into vibrant upscale downtown housing.

Automotive

Altec Industries – Botetourt County

An automotive industry client needed fast, quality preparation of the 25 acre site to keep the building opening schedule on target. Branch's skilled operators, management team and heavy equipment fleet never stumbled through a season of difficult weather.
